The Silver Trade Dollar.

Silver is a drug in the market, and its relative value to gold has been disturbed by its increased production, and also by its use as a circulating medium. Our production of silver has been steadily increasing for the last three or four years, and now amounts to about one hundred and fifty millions per annum. A further increase is considered certain. On the other hand its use as money is increasing. Germany has, by its recent Coinage act, changed the standard from silver to gold, and even if silver is retained in that empire for subsidiary coinage, not more than fifty millions will be required for the purpose, whilst the amount heretofore required for use there is estimated at three hundred and fifty millions, or equal to five years' production of the whole globe. In other countries silver coin has been wholly or partially expelled from circulation by paper money. These facts indicate the gradual but certain demoralization of silver by all commercial countries. The true policy of this country seems, therefore, to be, under these circumstances, to seek a market in China for its silver bullion; and to do this, it must be put in a form to meet a favorable reception in that empire. The old United States silver dollar, 412½ grains, was never well received in China, nor amounted to much as a coin of commerce, for the reason that its bullion value was less than the old Spanish dollar, and its successor, the Mexican dollar, both of which have played an important part in the commerce of the world. The standard aimed at when the United States silver dollar was first authorized to be issued was the Spanish dollar. The act of 1792 provided that the dollar should be of the value of the Spanish milled dollar, as the same was then current in the United States. The act also provided that it should contain 371½ grains of pure silver. The contents of pure silver should have been within a fraction of 371½ grains. The mistake made in specifying 371½, instead of 374½ grains, was due to an error in determining the quantity of pure silver in the Spanish dollar. Had our dollar been issued to correspond in its contents of fine silver with the Spanish dollar, as was originally intended, it would long since have become an important agent of commerce. The new trade-dollar is now issued to effect the objects originally intended by our silver dollar. It will contain 374½ grains of pure silver, and weigh 420 Troy grains. If this new coin be accepted at all as a medium in our trade with China and Japan, it will doubtless supersede very soon the Mexican dollar, and it is claimed there is no reason why, in a short time, it should not command a premium of six or eight per cent. It will be readily seen, from this view of the matter, why the receipt in Mexico of the new trade-dollar, so much excitements was created, and which caused the Mexican Congress to restore the old eagle-dollar in place of the coin of lesser value, intrinsically, which was adopted in 1867.—Baltimore Statesman.

STOVES AND THE STOVE TRADE.—The Boston Commercial Bulletin says Americans are blessed with better cooking appliances and cursed with worse cooking than any nation on the face of the earth. The stove is distinctively an American invention. To be sure, the Germans have their "stube," from which our word "stove" doubtless comes, but it is not at all a stove in the American sense of the word. It is a bulky, clumsy affair, built of fire-brick glazed on the exposed surface, and has the disadvantage of consuming an immense amount of fuel in heating itself before giving out a particle of calorific, and the advantage of giving out heat for a long time after the fire has gone out. It is a permanent arrangement, and once placed remains throughout the year. In the matter of cooking appliances, European invention has progressed no further than in heating. The arrangement upon which the world-famous cooks of France depend is simply a brick structure in the corner of a diminutive kitchen, over which hangs a flaring due to catch gases and steam, and in each of which are a number of round holes. In each of these a separate charcoal fire is built, and each pot and kettle has its own fire, large or small, "trick or slow," as its needs demand. In America, on the contrary, no article used in the household has received more attention than the stove; a word which we use here in its general sense, covering cooking and heating stoves, ranges, furnaces, &c. In times past, when fuel was plenty and cheap, and when the wants of the family were few, when luxury was unknown among the masses, and labor-saving appliances derided as tending to effeminacy, the open fire, which partly warmed one room—perhaps it would be better to say one side of one room—was considered ample for all purposes of cooking and warmth. But times changed. Wood, the principal fuel then, became too costly to allow people of small means the luxury of an open fire that swallowed up a cord of hickory a week. Besides, a prejudice crept in favor of warm entries and bedrooms, and this has gone on until people expect, when the mercury gets down below zero, that every man in their houses shall be comfortably warm. Our sturdy forefathers would have looked upon this as a fearful and dangerous lapse into luxury, and an evident sign of the decline of manhood, but it is a pardonable weakness, and most people take to it kindly.

M. THIERES is another of those remarkable men who come to the city of which they are afterwards Mayor, or represent in the Legislature, or even govern as President of the State, with leaves of bread under their arms. In 1784 M. Thieres entered Paris with a letter of introduction to the editor of the Constitutionnel. With his diploma as barrister in one pocket, and a criticism on Guizot in the other, he cast himself into that political maelstrom at once, and soon made his mark by the vigor of his style. He has now, since his fall, gone back to those days. He has preserved all his articles then written on politics, art, and history, and has devoted himself to reading them. Passing thus an arm chair and port wine existence, in repose among his books, his pictures, curiosities, and a few old cronies, the veteran statesman lets the turbulent times go by. That he believes the present state of affairs cannot last, is a matter of course. Then, in case of an overturn, who can right the State coach and drive it but himself?—Balt. Gazette.

BALTO. LOCK HOSPITAL.

DR. JOHNSTON.
Physician of this celebrated institution, has discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Efectual Remedy in the world for all

DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.
Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures, Affection of the Kidneys or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight, or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels, and all the terrible Disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the songs of the Sirens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, &c.

YOUNG MEN.
Especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, and dreadful and destructive habits which annually sweep to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entered the Senate with the thunders of eloquence, or walked to extacy, the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.
Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, beware! (Physians. Weakness of Procreative Power—Impotency.) Nervous Excitability, Palpitation, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, or any other Disqualification, speedily relieved.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. Johnston, may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS.
Immediately cured and Full Vigor Restored.

This distressing disease, which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. They pretend to deny that the natural powers are lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent.

Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, and Wasting of the Frame, Cough, Consumption, Decay and Death.

A CURE WARRANTED IN TWO DAY
Relief in Six Hours! No Mercury!

Persons ruined by Ignorant, Trifling Pretenders and their Deadly Poison, should apply immediately.

DR. JOHNSTON.
Member of the Royal College of Surgery of London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greatest part of whose life has been spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has cured some of the most astonishing cases that have ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears; many asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.
Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, uniting them for either business, study, society or marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be feared, as Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evil produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption.

YOUNG MEN
Who have injured themselves by a certain practice, already described, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyment of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in pernicious habits. Such persons must, before contemplating

Reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote conjugal happiness. Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to gloom, and life becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.

DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.
When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and responsibility, can relieve him, and delay till the constitutional symptoms of the horrid disease makes their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, weakness of the back, thin bones and arid, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration till death puts a period to his dreadful suffering, by sending him to an undiscovered country "from whence no traveller returns
